¹ A "pending transaction" is a transaction that a merchant has authorized but not yet confirmed with American Express. Transactions will remain "pending" until American Express receives confirmation from the merchant, along with the total transaction amount (in some cases, the actual transaction amount may be less than the amount that was authorized). If the merchant does not send the confirmation within 7 days, it is assumed that the transaction was abandoned or voided and the funds will automatically be returned to your available funds.
